Overall, I like how this website is nice and clean! The information is clear, informational, and easy to read.

Below are further suggestions:

- Add ice and climate sections (Geographic features section)
- Title text could be bigger and shifted to the right more (for every section)
 - I think you can even add a shadow behind the text to make it stand out more
- Navigation bar can be more transparent with slightly larger text
- Add sources at the bottom of each page
- More differentiation in the background image of the home page (can be a more vibrant, saturated image)
- Add another image behind the overall description of Yosemite (home page)
 - It can be darker so that white text stands out or have a transparent background for the text against the main image
- For interaction
 - Decreasing the view size means the larger images and font sizes decrease. For when there is the side by side text and images, they can stack on top of each other.
